

INSULTED. BELARUS(SIA)

photo by Violetta Savchits

a play by Andrei Kureichik, translated by John Freedman

A virtual live reading of a new play
Wednesday October 7 5pm followed by discussion with the author

Details at <http://bit.ly/insulted2020>

 Contains strong language and descriptions of violence.*

This reading is part of a worldwide project of public readings of "Insulted. Belarus," a new play by Andrei Kureichik written during the first month of peaceful protests in Belarus.

When Aleksandr Lukashenko, "Europe's last dictator," claimed "reelection" for his sixth consecutive term, people poured into the streets to demand that their voices be heard.

Despite mass arrests, police brutality, and torture, the unprecedented national protests continue to this day. Join us to show solidarity with the Belarusians' struggle for freedom and democracy.