

Come meet

Samantha Boardman,'94

History concentrator, psychiatrist, writer, and arts proponent

Dr. Samantha Boardman is a Clinical Instructor in Psychiatry, Public Health and Assistant Attending Psychiatrist at Weill-Cornell Medical College, a contributing writer to Everyday Health, The Tory Burch Blog, Acculturated.com, Modern Luxury, Self.com and the Huffington Post. In addition, she has written for Harper's Bazaar and has been featured in The Wall Street Journal Magazine and Style.com. She is also a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania's Masters in Applied Positive Psychology program. Her life and work involve joyous appreciation and support of the visual arts and efforts to bring the power and beauty of the arts to her clients and readers.

Arts Café at Barker

Tuesday, April 14

4PM