Clarifications: You must fulfill the tutorial (History 97) and seminar requirements within the History Department. For the electives and the distributional requirements, you may take any courses within the History Department; cross-listed courses are also automatically counted towards these five credits. Please contact the Assistant Director of Undergraduate Studies, Carla Heelan (cmheelan@fas.harvard.edu) if you would like to count a cross-listed course (https://history.fas.harvard.edu/cross-listed) towards the distribution requirements. You may petition to count one non-history course towards either of the two electives, though this course cannot fulfill the distribution requirements. To count a non-history course towards concentration credit, please fill out this form: https://history.fas.harvard.edu/files/history/files/related_fields_petition.pdf.

As a joint concentrator, you will also enter dual advising programs. As a second-semester sophomore and throughout junior year, your academic advisors will be able to answer your questions about requirements, intellectual goals for yourself, etc; as a senior you'll have thesis advisors from both departments. You'll also enroll in the year-long thesis tutorial organized by your primary concentration, though if history is your allied field, you are always very welcome to audit our thesis tutorial, which is a fairly easy commitment.

As of [DATE], you have the following requirements remaining to be fulfilled:
