Submit to

The Yale Historical Review

The Yale Historical Review collects exceptional history essays, giving undergraduates an opportunity to have their work highlighted. If you are proud of a historical essay you have written and would like to see it published, submit to The Yale Historical Review today.

Check out past issues at www.yale.edu/yalehistoricalreview.

Please send an e-mail to historical.review@yale.edu with your essay(s) attached and with the following information:

Your name, college, and year
Class and professor for which the paper was written Date the paper was submitted to the class
Your e-mail address

Submitted papers must be between twelve and thirty pages double-spaced, use Chicago-style footnotes/endnotes, and have received a grade of A- or higher.

All submissions are due on Monday, March 27, 2017.