

JANUARY@GSAS

WINTER ACTIVITIES FOR GRAD STUDENTS * JANUARY 8–19, 2018

Do you want to work on your WRITING?

Do you want to learn new RESEARCH SKILLS?

Would you like to
MEET PEOPLE OUTSIDE YOUR DISCIPLINE
WHILE LEARNING SOMETHING NEW?

Then, make plans for the January@GSAS workshops during winter break!

January 8–19, 2018

PROGRAMS INCLUDE:

- Boot Camps on Writing Fellowship Proposals
- Bok Winter Teaching Week
- Writing Your Way Off of the Island
- Make Your Own Book
- Resume/Cover Letter Webinar
- Microbial Sciences Initiative (MSI) Graduate Consortium Microscopy Workshop
- Houghton Library Workshops

Visit gsas.harvard.edu/january to learn more and register.

Questions?

E-mail jan-gsas@fas.harvard.edu

GRADUATE STUDENT COUNCIL MINI-COURSES

BY YOU, FOR YOU

Each January, the GSAS Graduate Student Council sponsors a series of mini-courses taught by GSAS students for GSAS students. Mini-courses include:

- Learning to Visualize: Surviving in the World of Data
- The Political Imaginary, or the Fictional Ground of Political Power
- Twenty-First Century Shari'a: A Historical Approach to the Contemporary Islamic Legal Tradition
- Global Crisis and Science Fiction
- Essence and Appearance: Islamic Theories of Being, al-Kindi to Mulla Sadra
- Love Songs: From Sappho to Lana Del Rey
- Trust in Science: Communicating Science to Skeptics

SIGN UP for a mini-course!

Find out more at [gsc.fas.harvard.edu/
2018-mini-courses](https://gsc.fas.harvard.edu/2018-mini-courses).